African Indigenous Knowledges in a Postcolonial World

Essays in Honour of Toyin Falola

Edited by Olajumoke Jacob-Haliso, Babcock University, Nigeria, Ngozi Nwogwugwu, Babcock University, Nigeria and Gift Ntiwunka, Babcock University, Nigeria

Series: Global Africa

This book argues that ancient and modern African indigenous knowledges remain key to Africa's role in global capital, technological and knowledge development. The contributors use historical and comparative political analysis to explore the global context for the application of indigenous knowledges for tackling postcolonial challenges of knowledge production, conflict and migration, and women's rights on the continent in transcontinental African contexts. This book will be of interest to scholars of African Studies, postcolonial studies and decolonisation and global affairs.

African Transnational Mobility in China

Africans on the Move

Roberto Castillo, Lingnan University, China

Series: Routledge African Studies

Considering the African presence in China from an ethnographic and cultural studies perspective, this book offers a new way to theorise contemporary and future forms of transnational mobilities while expanding our understandings around the transformations happening in both China and Africa.

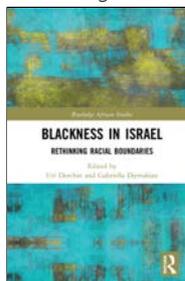

Raising critical questions about ways of (un)belonging in the precarious settings of neoliberal modernity and the future of African mobilities, this book will be of interest to scholars of transnational, African and Chinese Studies.

British-born Black African Youth and Educational Social Capital

Alganesh Messele, University of East London, UK

Series: Routledge Studies on African and Black Diaspora

Through the voice of British-born Black African youth, this book explores why some racial-ethnic and linguistic minority students fail academically while students from other linguistic minorities excel. Drawing on interpretive-qualitative research analysis, the author demonstrates the racial dimension of social capital in education that challenges the traditional social capital theory that recodes structural notions of racial inequality as primarily cultural, social, and human capital processes and interactions. This book will be of interest to practitioners and scholars of Multicultural Education, Black Studies and the African Diaspora.

Death and the Textile Industry in Nigeria

Elisha P Renne, University of Michigan, USA

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book draws upon thinking about the work of the dead in the context of deindustrialization—specifically, the decline of the textile industry in Kaduna, Nigeria—and its consequences for deceased workers' families.

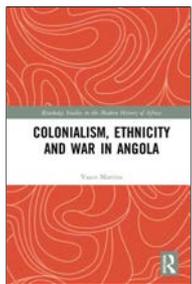

The author shows how that the dead work in various ways for Christians and Muslims who worked in KTL mill in Kaduna, not only for their families who still hope to receive termination remittances, but as connections to extended family members in other parts of Nigeria and as claims to land and houses in Kaduna. This book will be of interest to scholars of African studies, development studies, anthropology of work and the history of industrialization.

Colonialism, Ethnicity and War in Angola

Vasco Martins, University of Coimbra, Portugal

Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Africa

This book explores the impact of social, political and economic change upon the largest ethnic group in Angola, the Ovimbundu. Based on extensive fieldwork including oral testimonies and life stories, participant-observation, and archival materials, this book shifts the viewpoint from the colonial enterprise to focus on African experiences and responses. The author analyses the transformations introduced by Christianity and colonialization and how they contributed to politicised modern notions of ethnic identity and assisted UNITA's mobilisation of the Ovimbundu during the civil-war. This book will be of interest to scholars of African history and politics.

Decolonisation of Higher Education in Africa

Perspectives from Hybrid Knowledge Production

Edited by Emmet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, University of Johannesburg, South Africa, Irina Turner, University of Bayreuth, Germany and Abraham Brahim, African Centre for Advanced Studies, Benin

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

Taking practical lessons from a range of institutions in Africa, this book argues that that local and global science are culturally equal and capable of synergistic complementarity and then integrates the concept of hybrid science into discourses on decolonisation. Bringing together critical scholars, teaching and administrating academics from different disciplines, the chapters provide alternative conceptual outlooks and practical case-based perspectives towards a decolonized study environment. This book will be of interest to researchers of decolonisation, postcolonial studies, higher education studies, political studies, African studies, and philosophy.

Everyday Crisis-Living in Contemporary Zimbabwe

Edited by Kirk Helliker, Rhodes University, South Africa, Sandra Bhatasara, Rhodes University, South Africa and Manase Kudzai Chiweshe, University of Zimbabwe

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book examines the everyday lives of ordinary Zimbabweans in the context of national crises in post-2000 Zimbabwe. It is one of the first in its field to theorise everyday Zimbabwean lives within the context of crisis, with three central themes addressed: urban and rural lives; men, women and HIV; and along and beyond the border.

Foreign Policy in North Africa

Navigating Global, Regional and Domestic Transformations

Edited by Irene Fernandez Molina, University of Exeter, UK and Miguel Hernando de Larramendi, Universidad de Castilla-La Mancha, Spain

This volume explores how the foreign policies of North African states have responded to the constraints and opportunities stemming from multi-level transformations in the 2010s. Building on existing scholarship and the impact of the 2011 Arab uprisings, case studies include Tunisia's financial predicaments and foreign debt negotiations; Egypt's relationship with Saudi Arabia; Algeria's policies towards the conflicts in Libya and Mali; Morocco's power balance between the monarchy and the Islamist-led government; Libya's state weakness and internal competition among proliferating actors. The volume concludes by examining post-2011 developments in the Algerian-Moroccan rivalry.

Gendered Violence and Human Rights in Black World Literature and Film

Edited by Naomi Nkealah, University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa and Obioma Nnaemeka, Indiana University, USA

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book uses the lens of African and diasporic literature and film to explore how the practice of gendered violence breaches the human rights of people, especially women, children and minority groups. Overall, the contributors to this book build a rich picture of a highly complex and sensitive research landscape. This book will be essential reading for scholars, critics, feminists, teachers and students seeking solid grounding in exploring gendered violence and human rights in theory and practice.

Identification and Citizenship in Africa

Biometrics, the Documentary State and Bureaucratic Writings of the Self

Edited by Séverine Awenengo Dalberto, Institut des Mondes Africains, France and Richard Banégas, Sciences Po, France

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

In the context of a global biometric turn, this book investigates processes of legal identification in Africa "from below", asking what this means for the relationship between citizens and the state. It highlights the social and political embedding of legal identities and the resilience of the documentary state. Drawing on empirical research conducted across 14 countries, the book documents the processes, practices and meanings of legal identification in Africa from the 1950s right up to the biometric boom. This book will be of an important reference for students and scholars of African studies, politics, human security and anthropology.

Justice and Human Rights in the African Imagination

We, Too, Are Humans

Chielozone Eze, Northeastern Illinois University, USA

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book is an interdisciplinary reading of justice in literary texts and memoirs, films, and social anthropological texts in postcolonial Africa.

Inspired by Nelson Mandela and South Africa's robust achievements in human rights, this book argues that the notion of restorative justice is integral to the proper functioning of participatory democracy and belongs to the moral architecture of any decent society. It discusses in particular ecological violence, human rights abuses such as witchcraft accusations, the plight of people affected by disability, homophobia, misogyny, and sex trafficking, and forgiveness.

Landscapes of Slavery in Africa

Edited by Lydia Wilson Marshall, DePauw University

The volume advocates for the power of archaeology as a tool to disentangle often lengthy and complex landscape histories that both begin before slavery and continue after abolition. They also argue for archaeologists' central role in reimagining how we might remember and commemorate slavery in places where its history has been forgotten, obscured by European colonialism, or sanitized and simplified for tourist consumption.

The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of the Journal of African Diaspora Archaeology and Heritage.

Literary Black Power in the Caribbean

Fiction, Music and Film

Rita Keresztesi, University of Oklahoma, USA

Series: African Diaspora Literary and Cultural Studies

This volume is groundbreaking in its focus on the creative arts and artists in their evaluations of, and insights on, the relevance of the Black Power message. The author takes a cultural studies approach to bring together the political with the aesthetic, enriching an already fertile debate on the era and the subject of Black Power in the Caribbean region. The chapters discuss various aspects of Black Power in the Caribbean: on the pages of journals and magazines, at contemporary conferences that radicalized academia to join forces with communities, in fiction and essays by writers and intellectuals, in calypso and reggae music, and in the first films produced in the Caribbean.

Mennonites and Post-Colonial African Studies

Edited by John M Janzen, Kansas University, USA, Harold Miller, University of New Mexico, Albuquerque and John Yoder, Whitworth University, USA

Series: Routledge African Studies

This book examines the evolution of post-colonial African Studies through the eyes of Africanists from the Anabaptist (Mennonite and Church of the Brethren) community. Reflecting the values and perspectives they shared with the Mennonite Central Committee and other church sponsored organizations, the authors consider their own personal journeys and professional careers, the power of the prevailing scholarly paradigms they encountered, and the realities of post-colonial Africa. These personal histories provide an important glimpse into the intellectual and cultural perspectives that shaped the work of Africanist scholars and practitioners in the post-colonial period.

Narrating Human Rights in Africa

Eleni Coundouriotis, University of Connecticut, USA.

Series: Routledge Contemporary Africa

This book claims human rights from the perspective of artists from the African continent and situates the key theoretical concepts in African perspectives, undercutting the stereotypes of victimhood and voicelessness. The author focuses on how narrative creates new categories of thought challenging human rights dogma, whereas the sum of the literary voices evoked also stands by the values of social justice and protection of human rights. The chapters take up key challenges to the narration of human rights in which the contribution of African writers is particularly important. This book will be of interest to scholars of African literature, postcolonial studies, and African studies.

Nigerian Female Dramatists

Expression, Resistance, Agency

Edited by Bosede Funke Afolayan

Series: Global Africa

This book showcases the important, but often understudied, work of Nigerian women playwrights. This book draws on perspectives from culture, language, politics, theory, orality and literature, to shine a light on the engaged creativity of women playwrights. From the trail blazing but more traditional contributions of Zulu Sofola, through to contemporary postcolonial, the book shows the rich variety of work being produced by female Nigerian dramatists. This, the first major collection devoted to Nigerian women playwrights, will be an important resource for scholars of African theatre and performance, literature and women's studies.

Oil and Development in Ghana

Beyond the Resource Curse

Nathan Andrews, University of Northern British Columbia, Canada and Pius Siakwah, University of Ghana

Series: Routledge Studies on the Political Economy of Africa

A comprehensive overview of Ghana's hydrocarbon economy using actor network and assemblage theories to contest the methodological nationalism of mainstream accounts of the resource curse. Drawing upon recent field research on Ghana's oil and gas sector, the authors contend that there is an assemblage of political, economic, social and environmental networks, processes, actions, actors and structures of power that coalesce to determine the extent to which the country's hydrocarbon resources could be regarded as a 'curse' or 'blessing'. This book will be of interest to scholars of African political economy, African development and the politics of resource extraction.

Political Change and Constitutionalism in Africa

Emerging Trends

Edited by Okon Akiba, American University of Central Asia, Kyrgyzstan

Series: African Governance

This book examines the complexities of government and obstacles facing constitutional democracy in transitional African societies. The chapters provide a conceptual framework to probe, interpret and understand the dimensions of current and impending challenges to constitutional government in the African continent. The contributors explain why deep inequalities and harsh repression persist in most transitional African countries, despite constitutionally guaranteed rights and the ongoing, practical efforts to expand participation through political liberalization. Will be of interest to scholars of African politics

Social Media and Everyday Life in South Africa

Tanja E Bosch, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Series: Routledge Contemporary South Africa

This volume explores how, over the past decade, social media platforms have deeply penetrated the fabric of everyday life. The author considers South Africans' use of wearable tech and use of online health and sports tracking systems via mobile phones within the broader context of the digital data economy. The author also focuses on the dating app Tinder, to show how people negotiate and redefine intimacy through the practice of online dating via strategic performances in pursuit of love, sex and intimacy. The book concludes with the use of Facebook and Twitter for social activism e.g. Fees Must Fall; as well as networked community building as in the case of the #ImStaying movement.

The Political Economy of Mental Illness in South Africa

André J van Rensburg, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa

Series: Routledge Studies in Health in Africa

The book describes key socio-political reforms that helped shape post-apartheid South Africa's mental health system. A description of the development of South Africa's post-apartheid health system sets the stage for an analysis of the country's most tragic human rights failure during its democratic period, namely the Life Esidimeni tragedy. The roots of the tragedy are not only framed as a loss of life and dignity as a result of political corruption and administrative mismanagement, but as a power differential that ultimately highlights an unjust system that relegates its most vulnerable citizens to commodities, without voice and without agency.

Transport Planning and Mobility in Urban East Africa

Edited by Nadine Appelhans, TU Dortmund University, Germany, Wolfgang Scholz, Technische Universität Dortmund, Germany and Sabine Baumgart, Technische Universität Dortmund, Germany

Series: Routledge Studies in African Geography

Bringing together contributions on the futures of mobility in urban East Africa, this book examines transport provision, mobility patterns, location specific modes of transport and transformative factors for transport and mobility. Based on critical questioning of the decision-making process in transport planning and the level of accountability to the public, this edited volume shows the dialectic between innovation in transport/mobility and urban development and discusses how to practically integrate mobility and transport provision into planning. This book will be of interest to scholars in urban planning, transport planning, transport geography, social sciences and African studies.

Indigenous Land Rights in Israel

A Comparative Study of the Bedouin

Morad Elsana

Series: Routledge Studies in Middle Eastern Politics

Introducing the Negev Bedouin land issue from the international indigenous land rights perspective, this comparative study suggests options for the recognition of their land. The book demonstrates that the Bedouin land dispossession, like many indigenous peoples', progressed through several phases that included eviction and displacement, legislation, and judicial decisions that support acts of dispossession and deny the Bedouin's traditional land rights.

Proposing practical recommendations for the recognition of Bedouin land, the volume is a key resource to scholars and students interested in land rights, international law, comparative

2nd Edition

Routledge Handbook of Political Islam

Edited by Shahram Akbarzadeh

This updated, 2nd edition of the Handbook book covers a range of political actors that use Islam to advance their cause. While they share the ultimate vision of establishing a political system governed by Islam, the tactics and methods can be very different. Capturing this diversity, this volume also sheds light on some of the less-known experiences from South East Asia to North Africa.

Capturing the geographical spread of Islamism and the many manifestations of this political phenomenon make this book a key resource for students and researchers interested in political Islam, Muslim affairs and the Middle East.

Structural Dividers in the Qur'an

Edited by Marianna Klar

Series: Routledge Studies in the Qur'an

This volume showcases a wide range of contemporary approaches to the identification of literary structures within Qur'anic surahs. Recent academic studies of the Qur'an have taken an increasing interest in the concept of the surah as a unity and, with it, the division of complete surahs into consecutive sections or parts.

Bringing a combination of different approaches to Qur'an structure into a single book, written by well-established and emerging voices in Qur'anic studies, the work will be an invaluable resource to academics researching Islam, religious studies, and languages and literatures in general.

Ethnic Minorities, Media and Participation in Hong Kong

Creative and Tactical Belonging

Lisa Y.M. Leung, Lingnan University, Hong Kong
Series: Routledge Contemporary China Series

Leung discusses and analyses the complex and diverse engagement of migrant and minority youths in Hong Kong - and their struggle for recognition, while desiring to 'be-long' to a place they call home. Some are joining the calls for democratic changes in the territory. In particular, she argues that much of this struggle can be seen in minorities' involvement in creative sectors of society. While it will be of especial interest to scholars with an interest in Hong Kong, this book presents a compelling case study for anyone interested in the dynamics of migrant and minority engagement in the creative sector as a strategy for engagement.

Gender, Violence and Governmentality

Legal and Policy Initiatives in India

Skylab Sahu

This book critically examines gender-based violence in India and interrogates the legal and policy discourse surrounding it. It discusses various forms of violence faced by women such as sex selective abortion, trafficking, rape, domestic violence, as well as the violence faced by female sex workers and transgenders in India. The author analyses the major laws against violence and the policies introduced to ameliorate the condition of survivors in order to understand the potential and challenges of these initiatives. This book will be indispensable to students and researchers of gender and sexuality, feminism, social policy, law and human rights.

Hospitalities

Transitions and Transgressions, North and South

Edited by Merle A. Williams, School of Literature, Language and Media, University of the Witwatersrand, South Africa
Series: Transdisciplinary Souths

This collection of imaginative essays traces notions of hospitality across a sequence of theoretical permutations, not only as an urgent challenge for our conflicted present, but also as foundational for ethics and resonant within the play of language. The plural form of the title highlights the interimplication of hospitality with its exclusive others, holding suspicious rejection in tension with the receptiveness that transforms socio-cultural relations. This text openly welcomes the reader to participate in shaping fresh critical discourses of the hospitable, whether in literary and linguistic studies, art and architecture, philosophy or politics.

Introducing East Asia

History, Politics, Economy and Society

Carin Holroyd, University of Waterloo, Canada

Introducing East Asia is an ideal textbook for those new to the study of one of the most exciting and important regions in the world. Over the past fifty years, Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and China have become economic powerhouses and leaders in the commercialization of science and technology. The countries are economically and culturally intertwined while at the same time burdened by a history of war and conflict. This textbook focuses on the historical and cultural roots of contemporary political and economic ascendancy of East Asia and explores the degree to which East Asian culture and history set up the region for 21st century global leadership.

Memory, Trauma, Asia

Recall, Affect, and Orientalism in Contemporary Narratives

Edited by Rahul K. Gairola, Murdoch University, Australia and Sharanya Jayawickrama, Hong Kong Shue Yan University, Hong Kong

Series: Routledge Contemporary Asia Series

This volume explores the complex and surprising intersections of literature, history, ethics, affect, and social justice across the region through its wide-ranging but closely comparative focus on geo-political sites across East, South, and Southeast Asia. It unite perspectives on both dominant and marginalized sites in the broad Asian continent, including Cambodia, China, Japan, Malaysia, Pakistan, the Philippines, and Sri Lanka. As such, it is the first of its kind to comparatively argue for an intersectional mode of memory and trauma studies that centers the Orient rather than pushing it to the periphery of the Occident.

Multiple Homemaking

The Ethnic Condition in Indian Diaspora Societies

Ruben Gowricharn, Professor of Indian Diaspora Studies, VU-University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands

This book develops a theoretical perspective on homemaking as the ethnic condition of Indian diaspora communities. It draws on empirical case studies to elucidate the multiple homemaking practices of two overseas Indian groups, namely the Surinami Hindustanis and the Dutch Hindustanis. The author makes a point to scrutinise such concepts as douglarisation, groupism, citizenship, ethnification, social networks and technology, and transnational flows. The book will be highly useful in studies of diaspora, globalization and transnational migration, multiculturalism, politics and international relations, and South Asian studies.

Edited by Tong Soon Lee

The Routledge Handbook of Asian Music: Cultural Intersections introduces Asian music as a way to ask questions about what happens when cultures converge and how readers may evaluate cultural junctures through expressive forms. The volume's thirteen original chapters cover musical practices in historical and modern contexts from Central Asia, East Asia, South Asia, and Southeast Asia, including art music traditions, folk music and composition, religious and ritual music, as well as popular music. These chapters showcase the diversity of Asian music, requiring readers to constantly reconsider their understanding of this vibrant and complex area.

Social Analysis and the COVID-19 Crisis

A Collective Journal

Suman Gupta

This book is a collective journal of the COVID-19 pandemic. Featuring contributors located in India, USA, Brazil, UK, Germany, and Bulgaria, it presents first-hand accounts of the pandemic as it unfolded around the world. It documents the beginning of social distancing and lockdown measures as the authors reflect on themes such as the reorganization of political debates and issues, the experience of the marginalized, theodicy, government policy responses, and shifts into digital space under lockdown. The book will be useful to students and researchers of sociology, public health, political economy, public policy, and comparative politics.

Social Aspects of Health, Medicine and Disease in the Colonial and Post-colonial Era

Edited by Henk Menke, Jane Buckingham, Farzana Gounder, Ashutosh Kumar and Maurits S. Hassankhan

From the 1600s, enslaved people, and after abolition of slavery, indentured labourers were transported to work on plantations in distant European colonies. Inhuman conditions and new pathogens often resulted in disease and death. Central to this book is the encounter between introduced and local understanding of disease and the therapeutic responses in the Caribbean, Indian and Pacific contexts. It explores the medical, cultural and personal implications of these encounters, with the broad concept of medical pluralism linking the diversity of regional and cultural focus offered in each chapter.

Social Capital in Singapore

The Power of Network Diversity

Vincent Chua, National University of Singapore, Gillian Koh, National University of Singapore, Ern Ser Tan, National University of Singapore and Drew Shih

Series: Politics in Asia

Meritocracy poses a paradox: On one hand, it integrates individuals through frameworks of equal treatment, equal justice and opportunity regardless of race, language or religion. On the other hand, individuals are then segregating through academic sorting, which also results in elite identification, bonding and social stratification. The remedy proposed is network diversity which is the organic forming of ties across class and other social boundaries. This hypothesis has been tested in the case of Singapore society and the empirical results from the research on the power of network diversity and bridging social capital are found in this volume.

Somaesthetics and the Philosophy of Culture

Projects in Japan

Satoshi Higuchi, Hiroshima University, Japan

Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series

Higuchi provides insight into how this philosophy has developed in Japan, and the affinity it has developed with a non-Western culture. Dividing his insights into the categories of innovation, practice and educational implications, Higuchi presents the Japanese perspective on somaesthetics, with contributions from four of his students. They develop the philosophical discussion of areas such as the aesthetics of sport, bodily knowing, learning as mimesis, and learning culture through language. In this way the book illuminates the philosophy of somaesthetics using Japanese experience and research, while presenting a unique perspective on Japanese culture.

Soviet Films of the 1970s and Early 1980s

Conformity and Non-Conformity Amidst Stagnation Decay

Edited by Marina Rojavin and Tim Harte

Series: Routledge Contemporary Russia and Eastern Europe Series

This book explores a new character archetype that permeated Soviet film during what became known as the era of Stagnation, a stark period of loneliness, disappointment, and individual despair. This new type of character was neither negative nor positive, but nevertheless systematically undermined Soviet norms of behaviour, hairstyle, dress, lifestyle, and perspective, in stark contrast to Socialist Realism's traditional, positive hero who fought for Soviet values and who vanquished the enemies of socialism.

The Dynamics of Human Development

A Partial Mobility Perspective

Atanu Sengupta, Burdwan University, West Bengal, India, and Abhijit Ghosh, A N Sinha Institute of Social Studies, Patna, Bihar, India

This book studies the dynamic aspects of the Human Development Index (HDI) through a partial mobility perspective. It offers a new axiomatic structure and a set of mobility indices to discuss partial trends and interrogate the human development status at the sub-group and sub-regional levels. As opposed to traditional human development theories, this book focuses on relative changes in human development that may not be captured by the absolutist framework. ## The Human Rights Graphic Novel

Drawing it Just Right

Pramod K. Nayar

This book studies human rights discourse across a variety of graphic novels, both fiction and non-fiction, originating in different parts of the world. It demonstrates the emergence of the 'universal' subject of human rights, despite the variations. Through a study of these vastly different authors and styles, the book proposes that the graphic novel as a form is perfectly suited to the 'culture' and the lingua franca of Human Rights due to its amenability to experimentation and the sheer range within the form. It will appeal to scholars in Comics Studies, Human Rights, Visual Culture Studies, and to the general reader as well.

Changing Arms Control Norms in International Society

Kenki Adachi, Ritsumeikan University, Japan

Series: Routledge Advances in International Relations and Global Politics

When states' survival is at stake, do states behave according to norms, do states refrain from using certain weapons based on norms against their use? Adachi presents an analytical framework for analysing norm dynamics, incorporating the existing literature, while expanding the norm life cycle model to address contestation of, resistance to diffusion of, and disappearance of norms. He also examines the changing nature of international society, and how the evolving characteristics of this society change how norms are shared. A valuable contribution to the literature on norms in International Relations, of interest to scholars and students with an interest in the control of arms.

Civility in Crisis

Democracy, Equality and the Majoritarian Challenge in India

Edited by Suryakant Waghmore, Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay, India. and Hugo Gorringe, Centre for South Asian Studies, University of Edinburgh, UK.

This book critically examines the relationship between civility, citizenship and democracy. It engages with the oft-neglected idea of civility (as a Western concept) to explore the paradox of high democracy and low civility that plagues India. It brings together key themes such as minority citizens and the incivility of caste, the struggles for 'dignity' and equality pursued by subaltern groups along with feminism and queer politics, and the exclusionary politics of the Citizenship Amendment Act. The book will be of interest to researchers of political science, minority and exclusion studies, and political sociology.

Constituting the Political Economy of the Kurds

Social Embeddedness, Hegemony, and Identity

Omer Tekdemir

Series: Durham Modern Middle East and Islamic World Series

This book examines the development of Kurdish political economy and the emergence of collective Kurdish identity within a historical context through three main periods: the late-Ottoman Empire, the initial Republican Turkey era and then the post-1990s period. It relates historical developments to the dynamics of Kurdish society, including the anthropological realities of the nineteenth century through the moral economy frame, the evolving nature of nationalism in the early twentieth century and the more recent construction of a modern political Kurdishness by means of radical democracy, and an agonistic pluralism shaped by left-wing populism.

Democratization, National Identity and Foreign Policy in Asia

Edited by Gilbert Rozman, Princeton University, United States of America

How can democratization move forward in an era of populist-nationalist backlash? Many countries in Asia, and elsewhere, face the challenge of navigating between China and the United States in a period of intensifying polarization in their policies tied to democracy. East Asia has shown the way to democratization in Asia—with Japan, South Korea, Taiwan and Hong Kong linking national identity to democratization. In other parts of Asia, especially Southeast Asia, nationalist governments have tended to move away from democratization. This book investigates how national identity can both help and hinder democratization, illustrated by a series of examples from across Asia.

Exploring Base Politics

How Host Countries Shape the Network of U.S. Overseas Bases

Edited by Shinji Kawana, Tokyo Institute of Technology, Japan and Minori Takahashi, Hokkaido University, Japan

By analysing cases from Japan, Greenland, Germany, Italy, Turkey, Saudi Arabia, South Korea, and Singapore, this book sheds light on the mechanisms of base politics that surround US overseas military bases. In times of war they project military power, and in times of peace they deter the emergence of general and latent threats. They are used to secure access to resources, and as a means of politically and economically influencing small and mid-size countries. Military bases allow the host many benefits of the US security umbrella, but can cause internal problems.

Beyond bringing America strategic and security benefits, they influence power relations in the entire world.

Insecurity Communities of South Asia and the Middle East

Consequences of US Foreign Policy

Majid Sharifi, Director of International Affairs, Eastern Washington University, USA.

This book critically examines how US foreign policy has produced a regional regime of instability and insecurity in South Asia and the Middle East. It studies various events throughout history such as the Taliban regime; the US led war in Afghanistan; Obama administration and Pakistan; Kuwait and Iraq war; the Arab Spring, and the rise of ISIS, to present a theoretical analysis of Washington's consistent pursuit of multibalancing and regime change wars in the region. It will be indispensable for students and researchers of US foreign policy, defence and security studies, strategic affairs, politics and international relations, and political economy.

John Locke, Territory, and Transmigration

Brian Smith, Independent Researcher

This book outlines the contours of the public discourse surrounding migration in the seventeenth century and situates John Locke's in-depth involvement in these debates. It presents a variety of undercurrents in Locke's writing — his ideas on populationism, naturalization, colonization and the right to withdrawal, the plight of refugees, and territorial rights — which have great import in present-day debates about migration. The volume will be of great interest to researchers of political philosophy, international relations, international political economy, public policy, migration and citizenship studies.

Just Work for All

The American Dream in the 21st Century

Joshua Preiss, Minnesota State University, USA

This is a book about the American Dream: how to understand this central principle of American public philosophy, the ways in which it is threatened by a number of winner-take-all economic trends, and how to make it a reality for workers and their families in the 21st Century. Integrating political philosophy and the history of political thought with recent work in economics, political science, and sociology, this work calls for renewed political and policy commitment to Just Work.

Political Continuity and Conflict in East Timor

A History of the 2006 Crisis

Ruth Nuttall

Series: Routledge Contemporary Southeast Asia Series

This book examines the history of political continuity and conflict in East Timor between 1974 and 2006, and the origins of an unexpected crisis in 2006 which caused an international military intervention and several more years of UN missions. Providing a fresh and empirical political history to explain the crisis, the book offers new dimensions to the understanding of East Timor, its independence struggles, political transition and politics after independence in 2002.

Politics and Society between Elections

Public Opinion in India's States

Edited by Siddharth Swaminathan and Suhas Palshikar

This book studies patterns in public opinion on politics and society between elections in India. By using the survey data covering 24 Indian states including the National Capital Region of Delhi (NCR), it will serve as State barometers of public opinion. The surveys seek to understand how politics and governance processes are nested in the social and political relationships between citizens inter se and with government functionaries. The book explores citizen perceptions about the social and political universes they inhabit in periods between elections. It will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of political science, governance, public policy, and South Asian studies.

Politics of East Asian Free Trade Agreements

Unveiling the Asymmetry between Korea and Japan

Byung-il Choi, Ewha Womans University, South Korea and Jennifer S. Oh, Ewha Womans University, South Korea
Series: Politics in Asia

Examining free trade agreements in Japan and South Korea since the late 1990s, Choi and Oh analyze the role of institutions, political leaders, sectoral interests, and civil society in placing the two countries on alternate paths of free trade agreements at different points in time. With a systematic approach, they expose the domestic political underpinnings of free trade agreements in a global trade order that is increasingly fraught with conflict.

A valuable textbook for students of international political economy and international trade in East Asia, this is also a useful resource for scholars and policymakers looking to better understand trade politics in East Asia.

Social Media Impacts on Conflict and Democracy

The Tectonic Shift

Edited by Lisa Schirch, Toda Peace Institute, Japan

This edited volume documents and illustrates this "tectonic" shift on violent conflict and democratic processes. The contributions present vivid examples and case studies from countries in Africa, South and Southeast Asia, Latin America as well as Northern Ireland. Each maps an array of peacebuilding solutions to social media threats, including coordinated action by civil society, governments and tech companies to protect human minds, relationships and institution. Solutions presented include inoculating society with a new digital literacy agenda, designing technology for positive social impacts, and regulating technology to prohibit the worst behaviours.

The Decline of the Western-Centric World and the Emerging New Global Order

Contending Views

Edited by Yun-han Chu and Yongnian Zheng

Series: China Policy Series

The Western liberal democratic world order, which seemingly triumphed following the collapse of communism, is looking increasingly fragile as populists and nationalists take power in the United States, Europe and elsewhere, as the momentum of democratization in developing countries stalls, and as Western liberal establishments fail to deal with economic stagnation, worsening political polarization, social inequality, and migrant crises.

United Nations Financial Sanctions

Edited by Sachiko Yoshimura, Kwansai Gakuin University, Japan

Series: Routledge Advances in International Relations and Global Politics

This book presents insightful perspectives on the invocation, implementation and application of UN-approved financial sanctions and related issues. With contributions from academics, diplomats and UN panel experts, Yoshimura offers an analysis of how the UN financial sanctions have evolved, the different roles of various major international actors in agreeing and deploying them, and their success in achieving desired outcomes. It also sheds light on a vital role of Japan in the formulation and deployment of financial sanctions, as the third largest economy in the world with very limited armed forces and a pacifist constitution.

Modern Transnational Yoga

The Transmission of Posture Practice

Hannah K. Bartos

Series: Royal Asiatic Society Books

This is the first book to address the social organisation of modern yoga practice as a primary focus of investigation and to undertake a comparative analysis to explore why certain styles of yoga have successfully transcended geographical boundaries and endured over time, whilst others have dwindled and failed. Using fresh empirical data of the different ways in which posture practice was disseminated transnationally by Krishnamacharya, Sivananda and their leading disciples, the book provides an original perspective.

Building Communism and Policing Deviance in the Soviet Union

Residential Childcare, 1958–91

Mirjam Galley

Series: BASEES/Routledge Series on Russian and East European Studies

This book examines, through a detailed study of Soviet residential childcare homes and boarding schools, the much wider issues of Soviet policies towards deviance, social norms, repression, and social control. It reveals how through targeting children whose parents could not or did not take care of them, as well as children with disabilities, the system disproportionately involved children from socially marginal and poor families.

From German Königsberg to Soviet Kaliningrad

Appropriating Place and Constructing Identity

Jamie Freeman

Series: BASEES/Routledge Series on Russian and East European Studies

This book explores how the Soviet Union after capturing and annexing the German East Prussian city of Königsberg in 1945 and renaming it Kaliningrad worked to transform the city into a model of Soviet modernity. It examines how the Soviets expelled all the remaining German people, repopulated the city and region with settlers from elsewhere in the Soviet Union, destroyed the key remaining German buildings and began building a model Soviet city, a physical manifestation of the societal transformation brought about by communism.

Governing the Soviet Union's National Republics

The Second Secretaries of the Communist Party

Saulius Grybkauskas

Series: BASEES/Routledge Series on Russian and East European Studies

This book examines how the position of Second Secretary was established by Khrushchev in the 1950s, explores how it took on increasingly important political functions representing Moscow's interests in the republics and the republics' interests in Moscow, and discusses how the conflicts, inherent in the role, developed. The book also provides biographical details of the people who held the position and argues that the role was extremely effective in managing what could otherwise have been very difficult relationships between centre and periphery.

Immigration and Integration Policy in Europe

Denmark and Sweden, 1970–2010

Haider Abbas

This book analyses contemporary changes in immigration and integration policy in the wake of populism and rise of right-wing parties across the world. It examines how, in the face of substantial migratory flows, rising security concerns regarding immigration, and a refugee crisis of unprecedented levels, member states of the European Union have responded by calling for restrictive immigration policies, border patrolling and intensified integration programs. This volume will be of great interest to researchers of migration and diaspora studies, public policy, politics and international relations, and sociology and social anthropology.

Orthodox Christianity and the Politics of Transition

Ukraine, Serbia and Georgia

Tornike Metreveli, University of St Gallen, Switzerland

Series: Routledge Religion, Society and Government in Eastern Europe and the Former Soviet States

Based on original research, including extensive interviews with clergy and parishioners as well as historical, legal and policy analysis, the book argues that the nature of the involvement of churches in post-communist politics depended on whether the interests of the church (for example, in education, the legal system or economic activity) were accommodated or threatened: if accommodated, churches confined themselves to the sacred domain; if threatened they engaged in daily politics.

Portuguese Merchants in the Manila Galleon System

1565-1600

Cuauhtémoc Villamar

Series: Routledge Studies in the Maritime History of Asia

Villamar examines the role of Portuguese merchants in the formation of the Manila Galleon as a system of trade founded at the end of the sixteenth century. From its inception, the newly-founded capital of the Philippines became a hub of connections, attracting part of the trade that already existed in Asia. Surveying the Portuguese commercial networks from the 'Estado da Índia' across the 'Spanish lake,' this book sheds light on the early modern globalization from a truly comprehensive Iberian perspective. A valuable resource for scholars of Pacific and Iberian trade history and the maritime history of Asia.

Putin's Fascists

Russkii Obraz and the Politics of Managed Nationalism in Russia

Robert Horvath

This book examines the relationship between the Putin regime and Russkii Obraz, a neo-Nazi organization that became a major force on Russia's radical nationalist scene in 2008-10. It shows how Russkii Obraz's rise was boosted by the regime's policy of 'managed nationalism,' which mobilised radical nationalist proxies against opponents of authoritarianism.

Russian Peasant Bride Theft

John Bushnell

Series: Routledge Studies in the History of Russia and Eastern Europe

This book explores the history of Russian peasant bride theft - abduction, capture - from the adoption of Christianity in Kievan Rus in the late tenth century to the very early twentieth century. It also considers how bride theft originated much earlier in Russia and was a continuing tradition in some places, and how all this fitted into the Russian peasant economy. Throughout the book provides rich details of particular bride theft cases, of Russian peasant life, and of Russian folklore, in particular bridal laments.

Russia's Sakhalin Penal Colony, 1849-1917

Imperialism and Exile

Andrew A. Gentes

Series: Asia, Europe, and Global Connections

This book provides a comprehensive history of the genesis, existence, and demise of Imperial Russia's largest penal colony, made famous by Chekhov in a book written following his visit there in 1890. Based on extensive original research in archival documents, published reports, and memoirs, the book is also a social history of the late imperial bureaucracy and of the subaltern society of criminals and exiles, an examination of the tsarist state's failed efforts at reform, an exploration of Russian imperialism in East Asia and Russia's acquisition of Sakhalin Island in the face of competition from Japan.

Sustainable Energy in Central Asia

Transition Towards Renewable Energy Sources in Uzbekistan

Nigora Djalilova

Series: Central Asia Research Forum

This book argues that sustainable energy development represents a new frontier for many transitional economies, including those countries which are well-endowed with traditional energy resources, as exemplified by the case of Uzbekistan in Central Asia. The book highlights the challenges and issues faced by the energy sector in countries which are undergoing a transition from government-led economic models to open market economies.

The Sense of Mission in Russian Foreign Policy

Destined for Greatness!

Alicja Curanović

Series: Routledge Contemporary Russia and Eastern Europe Series

This book explores how far messianism, the conviction that Russia has a special historical destiny, is present in, and affects, Russian foreign policy. Based on extensive original research, including analysis of public statements, policy documents, and opinion polls, the book argues that a sense of mission is present in Russian foreign policy, that it is very similar in its nature to thinking about Russia's mission in Tsarist times, that the sense of mission matters more for Russia's elites than for Russia's masses, and that Russia's special mission is emphasised more when there are questions about the regime's legitimacy as well as great power status.

Translating Great Russian Literature

The Penguin Russian Classics

Cathy McAteer

Series: BASEES/Routledge Series on Russian and East European Studies

Launched in 1950, Penguin's Russian Classics quickly progressed to include translations of many great works of Russian literature and the series came to be regarded by readers, both academic and general, as the de facto provider of classic Russian literature in English translation, the legacy of which reputation resonates right up to the day. Through an analysis of the individuals involved, their agendas, and their socio-cultural context, this book, examines how Penguin's decisions and practices when translating and publishing the series played a significant role in deciding how Russian literature would be produced and marketed in English translation.

Cambodia's China Strategy

Security Dilemmas of Embracing the Dragon

Chanborey Cheunboran

Series: Routledge Security in Asia Pacific Series

This book explores the tensions within Cambodia's foreign policy between a tight alignment with China, on one hand, and Cambodia's commitment to ASEAN as well as its delicate foreign policy diversification towards other major powers, on the other hand. It traces the long history of Cambodia's quest for survival from its bigger and historically antagonistic neighbours – the Thai and the Vietnamese – and its struggle for security and independence from the two neighbours and external major powers, particularly the United States and China.

Changing Labour Policies and Organization of Work in China

Impact on Firms and Workers

Ying Zhu, University of South Australia, Australia, Michael Webber and John Benson

Series: Routledge Studies in the Growth Economies of Asia

The transformation of China's economy from a centrally-planned to a market-oriented system has had a profound impact on management systems and practices at the firm level, particularly changes to the organization of work. One of the consequences of this is increasing social disparity reflected through inequality of employees' income and employment conditions. This book, based on extensive original research including interviews and questionnaire surveys in different regions of China, explores the exact nature of these changes and their effects.

China's Grand Strategy Under Xi Jinping

How History Complicates Beijing's Global Outreach

Niv Horesh

Series: Routledge Studies on Comparative Asian Politics

This book attempts to identify change and continuity in PRC grand strategy, and the extent to which Chinese imperial history complicates PRC global outreach in the Xi Jinping era. Interdisciplinary in its reach, analysing grand strategy through both rhetoric and praxis, this book unpacks the Chinese world view through critical examination of the latest history textbooks currently in use in PRC middle schools. It also brings new evidence to bear on the debate in the West about Chinese strategic culture. Finally, it compares historical Japanese OFDI patterns with China in order to understand what makes the Chinese economy unique.

China's Northern Wei Dynasty, 386-535

The Struggle for Legitimacy

Puning Liu

Series: Asian States and Empires

The Northern Wei was a dynasty which originated outside China and which ruled northern China at the time when the south of China was ruled by a series of dynasties which originated inside China. Both during the time the Northern Wei were in power, and over many centuries subsequently, the legitimacy of the Northern Wei was questioned. This book outlines the history of the Northern Wei, including their origins, and the history of their southern rivals, considers the practices adopted by both the Northern Wei and their rivals to establish legitimacy, and examines the debates which preoccupied Chinese scholars subsequently.

Christianity and Social Engagement in China

Francis K.G. Lim, Nanyang Technological University, Singapore and Bee Bee Sng

Series: Routledge Religion in Contemporary Asia Series

Taking Chinese Christians' experience as a case study, Lim and Sng examine the possibilities and limitations of Christian engagement in society under an authoritarian regime. They look especially at efforts by religious individuals and groups who are seeking to address social issues by engaging in unobtrusive and non-antagonistic activities that interact with controlling state institutions. Their emphasis is on everyday lived religion, analysing how Christians express their faith in their everyday activity and not only in spaces demarcated as within the religious domain.

Ethnicity and Inequality in China

Edited by Björn A. Gustafsson, Reza Hasmath and Sai Ding

Series: Routledge Research on the Politics and Sociology of China

This book analyses the behaviour of ethnic minority groups in China, using the first comprehensive national dataset dedicated to capturing the socio-economic profile of ethnic minorities: the China Household Ethnicity Survey (CHES). Managing ethnic diversity in China has become an increasingly important subject, especially against the backdrop of the nation's rampant economic growth and changing institutional behaviour. This volume is one of the first in its field to capture the heterogeneity of ethnic minority groups' socio-economic experience, through intersectional analysis and multi-disciplinary approaches.

Ethnicity and Religion in Southwest China

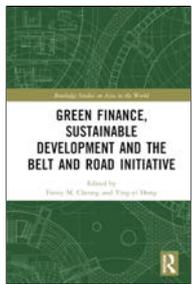

Edited by He Ming and David C. Lewis
Series: Routledge Religion in Contemporary Asia Series

As China strengthens its links with its neighbours through its Belt and Road initiative, there is growing interest in the indigenous peoples of China's western and southwestern borderlands. This book, based on extensive original research, considers the indigenous peoples of Yunnan province, which is a major gateway between China and the countries of south and south-east Asia.

Green Finance, Sustainable Development and the Belt and Road Initiative

Edited by Fanny M. Cheung, Chinese University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong, Ying-yi Hong, Chinese University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong and Hua Guo

Series: Routledge Studies on Asia in the World

The Belt and Road Initiative has not only set principles to prevent climate change and promote sustainable development, but also pledged to align with the UN's environmental objectives. The contributors to this volume describe and evaluate the consequent policy coordination in the areas of green finance, green energy and sustainable development in the Belt and Road regions. They examine both the challenges and opportunities of these projects, and the role that Hong Kong can play in supporting their assessment, finance and implementation.

Guanxi in Contemporary Chinese Business

The Persistent Power of Social Networking

Edited by Jane Nolan and Chris Rowley, Cass Business School, University of London, UK

Does guanxi still matter in 21st century Chinese business and management? Is it really still a culturally distinct form of social interaction, impenetrable by outsiders? Or does it simply resemble the countless other elite networks embedded in business and political spheres across the globe? This book answers these questions through a combination of new empirical insight and nuanced conceptual development.

The chapters in this book were originally published in a special issue of the Asia Pacific Business Review.

Hegemony with Chinese Characteristics

From the Tributary System to the Belt and Road Initiative

Asim Doğan

Series: Routledge Contemporary China Series

Doğan compares the historical relationship of China with its neighbours to the developing trajectory of the Belt and Road Initiative, and asks what this tells us about the kind of hegemon China is likely to become. Grounded in 'hegemony' as an analytic lens, this book provides an innovative study of the power generated by the global rise in China. It will be a valuable resource for scholars and students of Chinese foreign policy and international relations and serve as a benchmark for further studies.

Identity, Culture, and Chinese Foreign Policy

THAAD and China's South Korea Policy

Kangkyu Lee

Series: Routledge Studies on Think Asia

This book assesses the role of identity and Chinese face culture in Chinese foreign policy by analysing China's political and economic retaliation against South Korea's deployment of the THAAD (Terminal High Altitude Area Defense) system on its soil. By examining the history and military action of China, Japan, and North and South Korea, the book argues that China's divergent responses were caused by different expectations according to whether states had a perceived identity as a friend or a rival.

Modern Art for a Modern China

The Chinese Intellectual Debate, 1900–1930

Yiyang Wang, Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand

Wang analyses two key areas in the intellectual history of Republican China. The first is China's art reform in the early decades of the 20th century. The second is the connection and intersection between colonialism, nationalism and cosmopolitanism, and their direct impact on the development of art and art practice in China. 'Modern art for a modern China' was the catch-cry of Chinese intellectuals, many of whom were artists, critics, writers, poets and educators. This book discusses how they discussed and implanted changes in China's concept and practice of art. An invaluable resource for scholars and students of China's 20th century intellectual history.

Suzhou in Transition

Edited by Beibei Tang, Xi'an Jiaotong-Liverpool University, China and Paul Cheung

Series: Routledge Studies on China in Transition

Through the lens of the city of Suzhou, this edited volume presents views on the complex interaction between the central state, market agents, local governments and individuals who have shaped the development of Chinese cities and urban life. Featuring a range of disciplinary perspectives, contributors to this volume have all undertaken research in one municipality – Suzhou – to consider how history and culture has evolved during the modernisation of Chinese cities and the transformation of urban space, as well as shifting rural-urban relations and urban life during the reform era.

The Politics of Waste Management in Greater China

Environmental Governance and Public Participation in Transition

Natalie Wai Man Wong, City University of Hong Kong, Hong Kong

Series: Routledge Contemporary China Series

Wong examines the politics of managing municipal waste in three cities of Greater China: Guangzhou, Taipei and Hong Kong. She looks at the controversies that arise from the issue and the consequent politicization of the various solutions that are adopted. Focussing particularly on the dynamics of policy actors in the three cities, she compares the different political situations in each with the others. This provides a valuable lens through which to explore the larger issue of the political transformation of Environmental Management in the Greater China region. A compelling insight into environmental policy-making in Greater China, for scholars studying the dynamics of Chinese politics.

Avant-Garde Art and Non-Dominant Thought in Postwar Japan

Image, Matter, Separation

K. Yoshida

Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series

This book offers a reassessment of how 'matter' – in the context of art history, criticism and architecture – pursued a radical definition of 'multiplicity', against the dominant and hierarchical tendencies underwriting post-fascist Japan. Through theoretical analysis of works by artists and critics such as Okamoto Taro, Tsuruoka Masao, Kawaguchi Tatsuo and Muraoka Saburō, this highly illustrated text identifies formal oppositions frequently evoked in the Japanese avant-garde, between cognition and image; self and other; human and thing; one and many, in mediums ranging from painting and photography, to sculpture and architecture.

Censorship in Japan

Heung Wah Wong and Hoi Yan Yau

Series: Routledge Culture, Society, Business in East Asia Series

This book explores censorship, particularly film and video censorship, in Japan in modern times. It shows how most censorship has been the industry exercising self-censorship, but how this system has been problematic in that it has allowed dominant players to impose their own standards and exclude independent film makers. It outlines notable obscenity cases, and discusses how industry self-censorship bodies have been undermined both by industry outsiders setting up alternative regimes, and by the industry self-censorship bodies themselves being prosecuted for obscenity. The book also examines the conflict between the obscenity law and the freedom of speech law.

Britain, Japan and China, 1876–1895

East Asian International Relations before the First Sino–Japanese War

Yu Suzuki

Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia

This book revises the conventional wisdom about the Anglo-Japanese relationship in the late nineteenth century that these two countries were bound by mutual sympathy and common interests, and therefore the common ground which led to the signing of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance in 1902 had already existed in the 1880s. Such understanding fails to take account of the fact that the Qing dynasty of China had emerged as the strongest regional power in East Asia by reasserting its influence as the traditional suzerain of the region in the years prior to the First Sino-Japanese War.

Cultural Astronomy of the Japanese Archipelago

Exploring the Japanese Skyscape

Akira Goto, Nanzan University, Japan

Series: Routledge Studies in the Early History of Asia

Going as far back as the Jomon, Yayoi and Kofun periods, this book examines the significance of constellations in the daily life of farmers, fishermen, sailors, priests and the ruling classes throughout Japan's ancient and medieval history. As well as covering the systems of the dominant Japanese people, Goto also explore the astronomy of the Ainu people of Hokkaido, and of the people of the Ryukyu islands. Along the way he discusses the importance of astronomy in official rituals, mythology, and Shinto and Buddhist ceremonies, providing an overall unique overview of cultural astronomy in Japan.

British Engagement with Japan, 1854–1922

The Origins and Course of an Unlikely Alliance

Antony Best

Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia

This book by a leading authority on Anglo-Japanese relations reconsiders the circumstances which led to the unlikely alliance of 1902 to 1922 between Britain, the leading world power of the day and Japan, an Asian, non-European nation which had only recently emerged from self-imposed isolation. Based on extensive original research the book goes beyond existing accounts which concentrate on high politics, strategy and simple assertions about the two countries' similarities as island empires.

Gradual Institutional Change in Japan

Kantei Leadership under the Abe Administration

Karol Zakowski

Series: Nissan Institute/Routledge Japanese Studies

This book analyses institutional reforms implemented by Japanese Prime Minister Abe Shinzō, under his second administration from 2012 to 2020. Also examined is the evolution in the role of such actors in Japanese politics as bureaucrats, LDP factions and backbenchers of the ruling party. Chapters offer multi-dimensional explanations for the preconditions of successful gradual institutional change in political systems, characterized by relatively strong veto players, rigid governmental structures, and numerous unofficial decision-making rules.

Japan's Pan-Asian Empire

Wartime Intellectuals and the Korea Question, 1931-1945

Seok-Won Lee
Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia

This book is a study of how the theories and actual practices of a Pan-Asian empire were produced during Japan's war, 1931-1945. Critically examining how Japanese social scientists contrived the logic of a Japan-led East Asian community, this book demonstrates the violent nature of imperial knowledge production which buttresses colonial developmentalism. It continues to explore questions around the (re)making of colonial Korea as part of Japan's regional empire, generating theoretical and realistic tensions between resistance and collaboration.

Japan and the Study of the History of Economic Thought

Collected English Essays by Toshihiro Tanaka
Toshihiro Tanaka

This rigorous volume marks the first English translation of Toshihiro Tanaka's research outside Japan, offering a rare opportunity for international scholars to explore the relationship between Western economic thought and Japan. It is structured in five parts that cut a path through classical economics, through to the lectures of modern and neoclassical economics, before concluding with studies in the influence of American and Australian economics in Japan. Studies incorporate work from philosophers such as Bernard Mandeville and Joseph Dorfman, but also pay due attention to work from the Society for the History of Economic Thought of Japan.

Japan's Evolving Security Policy

Militarisation within a Pacifist Tradition

Kyoko Hatakeyama
Series: Routledge Studies on Think Asia

Japan has been expanding its military roles in the post-Cold War period. This book analyses the shift in Japan's security policy by examining the collective ideas of political parties and the effect of an international norm. The argument held throughout is that these factors play a primary role in framing Japan's security policy. Overall, three security areas are studied: Japan's arms trade ban policy, Japan's participation in United Nations Peacekeeping Operations, and Japan's enlarged military roles in international security.

Japan's Nationalist Right in the Internet Age

Online Media and Grassroots Conservative Activism

Jeffrey J. Hall, Waseda University, Japan
Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series

Japan's nationalist right have used the internet to organize offline activism in increasingly visible ways. Hall investigates the role of internet-mediated activism in Japan's ongoing historical and territorial disputes. He explores the emergence of two right-wing activist organizations, Nihon Bunka Channel Sakura and Ganbare Nippon and analyses how activists maintained cohesion, raised funds, held protests, and used fishing boats to land activists on disputed islands. A valuable read for scholars seeking insight into the Japan's history disputes and territorial issues, as well as the comparison of Japanese right-wing internet activism with its counterparts elsewhere.

The Birth of Japanese Historiography

John R. Bentley

Series: Routledge Studies in the Early History of Asia

As the first book in English on the origins of Japanese historiography, this book examines the connection between ancient Japan and the Korean kingdom of Paekche. Illustrating how tutors from the kingdoms of Kara and Paekche taught Chinese writing to the Japanese court through the highly civilized culture of Paekche, the book argues that Paekche tutors guided the early Japanese court through writing, recording family history, and an early history of the ruling family. Triangulating textual data from Kojiki, Nihon shoki, and Sendai kuji hongei, the author demonstrates that aspects of early king genealogies and later events were manipulated.

Women and Political Inequality in Japan

Gender Imbalanced Democracy

Mikiko Eto, Hosei University, Japan

Series: Routledge Contemporary Japan Series

According to the Inter-Parliamentary Union, Japan is placed 164th out of 193 countries when it comes to women's representation in the legislature. The percentage of women in the Lower House has only increased by fewer than two percentage points since women gained full suffrage and the right to stand for election in Japan in 1946. Eto analyses the various factors which have led to women's low presence in the Japanese legislature. She evaluates ways in which it might be possible for Japan to catch up and in doing so examines the ways in which Japanese society continues to perpetuate gender-rigid expectations of men and women.

Exporting Urban Korea?

Reconsidering the Korean Urban Development Experience

Edited by Se Hoon Park, Korea Research Institute for Human Settlements, Korea, Hyun Bang Shin and Hyun Soo Kang, Korea Research Institute for Human Settlements, Korea
Series: Routledge Advances in Korean Studies

Korea's urban and regional development experiences are widely regarded as a success story. Korea has improved its urban infrastructure and average living standards dramatically in a short period of time. The national government's technocrat-centered economic development drive, timely setting of rules and regulations, and effective implementation of policy tools, have been key to developing the Model. However, there is a darker side to this story: a weakened civil society, an increasingly marginalized urban poor, and worsened social inequality.

Healing Historical Trauma in South Korean Film and Literature

Chungmoo Choi

Series: Routledge Advances in Korean Studies

Through South Korean filmic and literary texts, this book explores affect and ethics in the healing of historical trauma, as alternatives to measures of transitional justice. Historians and legal practitioners who deal with transitional justice agree that the relationship between historiography and justice seeking is contested: this book reckons with questions of how much truth-telling from a violent past will lead to healing, forgiving, and finally overcoming resentment. Nuanced interpretations of South Korean filmic and literary texts are featured, including Park Chan-wook's Oldboy, Bong Joon-ho's Mother and literary texts of Han Kang and Ch'oe Yun.

Neo-Confucianism and Science in Korea

Humanity and Nature, 1706-1814

Sang-ho Ro, Ewha Womans University, Korea

Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia

In the late Choson period the regime felt threatened by the new, more empirical, approaches to knowledge emerging from both the East and the West. For this reason many Korean intellectuals felt it necessary to work in the shadows and formed secret societies for the study of nature. Because of the secrecy of these societies, much of their work has remained unknown even in Korea until recent years. Ho looks at the work of these intellectuals and analyses the impact their thinking and experimentation had on knowledge production in Korea.

Routledge Handbook of Contemporary North Korea

Edited by Adrian Buzo, Macquarie University, Sydney, Australia

The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary North Korea presents a comprehensive picture of contemporary North Korea, placed in historical context, spanning a period of significant transition and set against the overlapping fields of politics, economy, culture, society and foreign relations. The volume's nineteen chapters are representative of the growth in North Korean studies that has occurred since the 1990s, in parallel with the end of military-backed authoritarian rule in South Korea in 1987, as well as far greater levels of access to the North. The volume is divided into five sections, each reflecting an emergent area of debate and research.

The Road to Multiculturalism in South Korea

Ideas, Discourse, and Institutional Change in a Homogenous Nation-State

Timothy C. Lim

Series: Routledge Advances in Korean Studies

This book aims to capture the complicated development of Korea from monoethnic to multicultural society, challenging the narrative of 'ethnonational continuity' in Korea, through a discursive institutional approach. The approach here diverges from existing academic analyses, which tend to conclude that core institutions defining Korea's immigration and nationality regimes — and which, crucially, also reflect a basic and hitherto unyielding commitment to racial and ethnic homogeneity — will remain largely unaffected by increasing diversity.

Understanding Hallyu

The Korean Wave Through Literature, Webtoon, and Mukbang

Hyesu Park, English, Arts & Humanities, Bellevue College

This book sheds light on the aspects of the Korean Wave and Korean media products less discussed — Korean literature, webtoon, and mukbang. It explores the making of these Korean popular cultural products and how they work and engage media recipients regardless of their different national, cultural, and geographical backgrounds. Drawing on narrative theory and cultural studies, the book discusses how to analyze the production and consumption of Korean media within and beyond its national boundary with critical eyes. It will be of great interest to scholars and researchers of Asian Studies, popular culture, contemporary cyberculture, media and culture studies, and literary theory.

Alfred Raquez and the French Experience of the Far East, 1898-1906

William L. Gibson

Series: Routledge Studies in the Modern History of Asia

In 1890, a man calling himself Alfred Raquez appeared in Indochina claiming to be a writer travelling the world to escape unfathomable sorrows back home in France. He published thousands of pages of highly detailed travel accounts that open a unique window onto the European presence in the Far East. And yet, despite the charm and the ebullience and the erudition, through all his travels and rising fame, the man kept a secret that was so mortifying that even his closest companions would not learn of it until after his death in 1907. In truth, Alfred Raquez did not exist. A fascinating read for students and scholars of colonial Southeast Asia, and European colonialism more broadly.

Civil-Military Relations and Global Security Governance

Strategy, Hybrid Orders and the Case of Pakistan

Cornelia A. Baciu

Series: Routledge Advances in South Asian Studies

This book investigates the relationship between international security governance, democratic civil-military relations and the relevance of strategy, as well as of absolute and relative gains, in norms formation in hybrid orders. Highlighting caveats of the legacy of Huntington's paradigm of military professionalism, the book applies a robust methodology and data collected in four sample regions in Pakistan.

ASEAN and Regional Order

Revisiting Security Community in Southeast Asia

Amitav Acharya

Series: Politics in Asia

Founded in 1967, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) has emerged as one of the most successful regional organisations in the world. This book discusses the future of ASEAN against a backdrop of a growing US-China rivalry and the security implications of COVID-19. Chapters move through a detailed history of ASEAN and its multilateral institutions, including the ASEAN Regional Forum (ARF) and the East Asia Summit (EAS). Key concepts and terms are unpacked throughout, focussing on changing international and regional environments, economic insecurities, and extensive analysis of the factors challenging the principle ASEAN Centrality and the Indo-Pacific

Dalit Christians in South India

Caste, Ideology and Lived Religion

Ashok Kumar Mocherla, Indian Institute of Technology Indore, India

This ethnographic study of Dalit Lutherans in South India examines how the lived religion of Dalit Christians contests the structures of caste domination in rural Andhra. It shows how the emergence of Dalit Christianity generated new religious ideas, patterns, terrains, rituals, and practices that challenge the traditional notions of caste privilege and impact the politics of the region. This volume at the intersection of religion and caste will be an essential read for students and researchers of Dalit studies, political studies, sociology, sociology of religion, religious studies, social justice and exclusion studies, and South Asian studies.

Designing (Post) Colonial Knowledge

Imagining South Asia

Edited by Priya Jha, University of Redlands and Rajinder Dudrah, Birmingham City University

This book contributes to a growing body of scholarship that examines material culture and its relationship between design and its construction of knowledge about multicultural identities in the colonial and postcolonial periods, with a focus on South Asia. The chapters pose questions about colonial history, colonial and postcolonial cultural practices, and the aestheticization of South Asian art, design, and media forms as they inform identities in a deterritorialized global culture.

History of Indigenous Pharmaceutical Companies in Colonial Calcutta (1855-1947)

Malika Basu

The book attempts to understand the history of the indigenous pharmaceutical companies in Calcutta during the colonial times. The study not only portrays the politico-economic background to the emergence of the pharmaceutical industry in colonial India but links it to the economic nationalism and the quest for self-sufficiency among Indian nationalists and entrepreneurs. The pharmaceutical industry in India can be symbolic of a cultural response to modern science which was to pave the subsequent trajectory of national scientific endeavours in India. ; Please note: Taylor & Francis does not sell or distribute the Hardback in South Asia.

Industrial Networks and Cinemas of India

Shooting Stars, Shifting Geographies and Multiplying Media

Edited by Monika Mehta and Madhuj Mukherjee, Jadavpur University, India

This volume points to the limits of models such as regional, national, and transnational, and develops 'network' as a conceptual category to study cinemas of India. The essays in this volume address a range of themes such as transgressive female figures; networks of authors and technicians; trans-regional production links and changing technologies; and new media geographies. A generative account of industrial networks, this volume will be useful for scholars and researchers of film studies, cinema studies, media studies, production studies, media sociology, gender studies, South Asian studies, and cultural studies.

Islam, Women's Sexuality and Patriarchy in Indonesia

Silent Desire

Irma Riyani

Series: ASAA Women in Asia Series

This book explores the intimate marital relationships of Indonesian Muslim married women. As well as describing and analysing their sexual relationships, the book also investigates how Islam influences discourses of sexuality in Indonesia, and in particular how Islamic teachings affect Muslim married women's perceptions and behaviour in their sexual relationships with their husbands. Based on extensive original research, the book reveals that Muslim women perceive marriage as a social, cultural and religious obligation that they need to fulfil.

Kashmir and the Future of South Asia

Edited by Sugata Bose and Ayesha Jalal, Tufts University, USA

Series: Routledge Contemporary South Asia Series

This book uses an innovative people-centred approach to the Kashmir problem to shed new light on why postcolonial partitions remain unfinished, and why the wounds of postcolonial nation-state formation in South Asia continue to fester. "Kashmir" is viewed as a metaphor for the permanent internal wars of partition that mark the South Asian experience. Chapters sensitively bring Kashmiri voices to the fore to examine Kashmir in the national discourses of India and Pakistan, resistance in the Kashmiri imagination, and the Kashmir conflict in a global context.

Kipling in India: India in Kipling

Edited by Harish Trivedi, Former Professor, University of Delhi, India and Janet Montefiore, Professor Emerita, University of Kent, Canterbury, UK

This book explores and re-evaluates Kipling's connection with India, its people, culture, languages and locales through his experiences and his writings. Kipling's works attracted interest among a large section of the British public, stimulating curiosity in their far-off Indian Empire, and made many canonize him as an emblem of the 'Raj'. This volume highlights the astonishing social and thematic range of his Indian writings as represented in The Jungle Books; Kim; his early verse; his Simla-based tales of Anglo-Indian intrigues and love affairs; his stories of the common Indian people; and his journalism.

Making India Great Again

Learning from our History

Meeta Rajivlochan and M. Rajivlochan

How can India become a great country again, is the question explored in this book. India's failure to build robust institutional networks of information and indifference of the state to business communities has caused many problems. The ability to create wealth has everything to do with such networks. There was never any shortage of innovation in India, but what was lacking was the ability to learn from their own experience. The building of learning networks and a learning ecosystem that could be used by people to leverage success – this is what is needed to unlock the huge talent pool that India possesses. ; Please note: T&F does not sell or distribute the Hardback in South Asia.

Politics as Social Text in India

The Bahujan Samaj Party in Uttar Pradesh

Jayabrata Sarkar, Associate Professor, Political Science, Deshbandhu College, DU

This book explores the emergence of the Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) as an alternative political force in Uttar Pradesh. It discusses the new age Dalit-Bahujan politics and its ethnicization of caste groups to create a bahujan samaj. It further analyses the focused political leadership of Kanshiram and Mayawati, the strong party organisation, and how they evolved an empowered Dalit ideology and identity by grassroots mobilisation and championing Dalit icons and history.

Queering Tribal Folktales from East and Northeast India

Kaustav Chakraborty

This book explores queer potentialities in the tribal folktales of India. It elucidates the queer elements in the oral narratives of four indigenous communities from East and Northeast India, which are found to be significant repositories of gender fluidity and non-normative desires. Departing from the popular understanding that 'Otherness' results largely from undue exposure to Western permissiveness, the author reveals how minority sexualities actually have their roots in aboriginal indigenous cultures in India. This work will be useful to scholars of queer studies, gender studies, tribal and indigenous studies, cultural studies, postcolonialism, and sociology.

Radicalization in Pakistan

A Critical Perspective

Edited by Muhammad Shoaib Pervez

Series: Routledge Advances in South Asian Studies

This book offers a critical analysis of radicalization in Pakistan by deconstructing the global and the official state narratives designed to restrain Pakistani radicalization. Chapters are centered around three distinct themes: educational norms, religious practices and geo-political aspects of radicalization to examine the prevalent state and global practices which propagate Pakistani radicalization discourse.

Re-imagining Border Studies in South Asia

Edited by Dhananjay Tripathi

This book presents a radical rethinking of border studies from a South Asian perspective. The authors argue that while securing borders is an essential function of the state, in this interconnected world, crossing borders and border cooperation is also necessary. The book examines contemporaneous and topical themes like disputes of identity and nationhood, the impact of social media on border studies, water-sharing between countries, and resolution of border problems in the age of liberalisation and globalisation. It will serve as an indispensable text for researchers of border studies, military and strategic studies, international relations, and geopolitics.

Small Firm Ownership and Credit Constraints in India

Rajesh Raj S.N., Sikkim University, India and Subash Sasidharan, IIT Madras, India

This book investigates the role of credit constraints in determining the performance of MSMEs in India and considers how gender- and caste-based prejudices influence and inform a firm owner's access to formal credit. Combining micro-econometric techniques with large-scale firm surveys, it offers readers new findings which shed light on the effect of ownership characteristics on credit access and firm performance. It also examines recent credit policy initiatives aimed at weaker sections of society including Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribe and women owned enterprises and puts forward valuable policy recommendations.

Society, Resistance and Civil Nuclear Policy in India

Nuclearising the State

Varigonda Kesava Chandra

Series: Routledge Advances in South Asian Studies

This book explores how anti-nuclear social movements impact the state's civil nuclear policy and its implementation by presenting a historical-comparative case study of anti-nuclear movements in India. Drawing on social movement theory and empirical methods, the book demonstrates that the ability for anti-nuclear movements to impede the inception of nuclear plants – a key element of India's civil nuclear policy – is determined by the movement's collective action repertoires, the politicisation of nuclear power and the state's larger developmental paradigm, and the openness of state input structures.

Terrorism and the US Drone Attacks in Pakistan

Killing First

Imdad Ullah

Series: Routledge Contemporary South Asia Series

This book analyses the US drone attacks against terrorists in Pakistan to assess whether the 'pre-emptive' use of combat drones to kill terrorists is ever legally justified. Exploring the doctrinal discourse of pre-emption vis-à-vis the US drone attacks against terrorists in Pakistan, the book shows that the debate surrounding this discourse encapsulates crucial tensions between the permission and limits of the right of self-defence.

The Muslim Question in Assam and Northeast India

Monoj Kumar Nath, Department of Political Science, Nowgong College, Assam

This book presents a systematic study of the transformation of the specific socio-political identity of the Muslims in Assam. It discusses the issues of Muslims under India's 'indigenous secularism' and Hindu nationalism; Muslim immigration into Assam after Independence; the Assam Movement and the shift of Muslims from a vote bank to an autonomous force; and the role of Jamiat. This book will be useful to those in politics, sociology, political sociology, minority studies, northeast India studies, demography and immigration studies, and development studies. It will interest those concerned with minority, communal and identity politics, migration, citizenship, and South Asian studies.

Urban Governance and Local Democracy in South India

Anil Kumar Vaddiraju, Institute for Social and Economic Change, Bangalore, India

This book examines the issues of urban governance and local democracy in South India. It is the first comprehensive volume that offers comparative frameworks on urban governance across all states in the region: Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana, Tamil Nadu and Kerala. The book focuses on governance in small district-level cities and raises crucial questions such as the nature of urban planning; issues for urban local governance; civic amenities; and social capital along with policy lessons. Rich in empirical data, this book will be useful to scholars and researchers of political studies, public administration, governance, public policy, development studies, as also practitioners and NGOs.

Urban Green Space, Health Economics and Air Pollution in Delhi

Swati Rajput, University of Delhi, India, Kavita Arora, University of Delhi, India and Rachna Mathur, University of Delhi, India

This book looks at the ecological stress on cities and engages with challenges of reducing vulnerabilities and risks of pollution on the health, well-being and livelihoods of people living in developing countries. Cities are the world's highest energy consumption and the biggest producers of toxic wastes and pollutants. With an emphasis on the environmental issues facing the city of Delhi, the volume focuses on steps to preserve and manage the city's urban green spaces. It explores the concept of urban green spaces and their economic, social, health, and psychological significance in cities.

Witchcraft Accusations from Central India

The Fragmented Urn

Helen Macdonald, University of Cape Town, South Africa

This book unravels the institutions surrounding witchcraft in the central Indian state of Chhattisgarh through theoretical and empirical research on witchcraft, violence and modernity in contemporary times. The author pieces together 'fragments' of stories gathered utilising ethnographic methods to examine the meanings associated with witches and witchcraft, and how they connect with social relations, gender, notions of agency, law, media and the state.

Deliberative Democracy in Taiwan

A Deliberative Systems Perspective

Mei-Fang Fan

Series: Routledge Research on Taiwan Series

This book is a pioneering analysis of the deliberative systems approach in Taiwan, extending an understanding of Taiwanese democratic politics and consolidating links between theoretical development and a practical application of deliberative practices. This book considers how components within the intricate web of micro- and macro- deliberative systems perform different functions, complement each other, and contribute both to policy change and democratic innovation in Taiwan and beyond.

Literary Representations of "Mainlanders" in Taiwan

Becoming Sinophone

Phyllis Yu-ting Huang

Series: Routledge Research on Taiwan Series

This book examines literary representations of mainland identity articulated by Taiwan's second-generation mainlanders, who share the common feature of emotional ambivalence between Taiwan and China. Closely analyzing literary narratives of Chinese civil war migrants and their descendants in Taiwan, a group referred to as "mainlanders" (waishengren), this book demonstrates that these Chinese migrants' ideas of "China" and "Chineseness" have adapted through time with their gradual settlement in the host land.

Taiwan's Green Parties

Alternative Politics in Taiwan

Dafydd Fell

Examining the Green Party Taiwan (GPT) since its establishment through the aftermath of the most recent national elections in January 2020, this book investigates Taiwan's most important movement party over the last two and a half decades.

Applying a wide range of theoretical frameworks to plot and explain small party development, this book will appeal to both students and scholars of Taiwan's politics and civil society, but also to readers with an interest in small parties and particularly environmental parties and movements.
