A Constraints-Led Approach to Swim Coaching

Edited By Andrew Sheaff

Series: Routledge Studies in Constraints-Based Methodologies in Sport

This book applies contemporary motor skill acquisition and athlete development practices to swimming. It encourages coaches to re-consider how they approach skill development in a sport that requires considerable physical training and highly efficiency movement. It presents a framework for identifying the various constraints that determine the ability to perform at a high level. It offers coaches' practical examples to navigate the manipulation of constraints to support the development of physical capacities and the ability to effectively utilize those capacities through efficient movement. These frameworks are broadly inclusive to the global sports programming market.

Case Studies in Coaching Ethics

Real Dilemmas in High School, College, and Professional Sports

Edited By Anthony Parish, Timothy Baghurst

This book presents a variety of cases based on true stories that present some of the ethical decisions coaches must make across high school, collegiate, and professional sports. Using a sequential system of less to more complicated, 40 case studies are presented across the sports spectrum that coaches have experienced. Although names and situations have been changed, these cases have happened and provide real applicability to coaches. In addition, each case contains multiple situations perhaps with no "right" answer that test a coach's value system and ability to prioritize actions. Questions are provided at the end of each case that allow for reflection.

The subcultural participants discussed within previous studies lived intensely subcultural lives that were ultimately diminished due to processes of gentrification and displacement.
